

Exhibitors returning to industry's leading showcase for rail and civil infrastructure businesses

With Infrarail set to return to London in May 2018, a high number of exhibitors have been confirmed to return following fantastic feedback from the previous event.

Unipart Rail, a supply chain partner which works with some of the industry's biggest names, is already confirmed to be attending again, and has offered insight into its experience at the last event:

"Infrarail is a unique opportunity for us to demonstrate our technologies and explore how our developments in Digital will help to improve the railways. "

"The exhibition is at the forefront of leading thinking and many of the rail industry's biggest names will be in attendance so it is an event we would not want to miss. We're looking forward to returning in 2018 and hope to see plenty of new faces there as well as some familiar ones!" - Nicola Holt, Marketing Manager, Unipart Rail

Infrarail 2018 will see the twelfth in this highly successful series of biennial trade events return to ExCeL London during 1-3 May. Exhibitors from the full range of sectors will be in attendance, including representatives from railway civil engineering and construction, track products, signalling and communications, electrification, stations and depots, infrastructure maintenance equipment and services, and much more.

The event will also feature a full programme of keynote speeches by leading figures, industry seminars, project briefings and discussion groups, providing valuable insights into trends in technology and policy.

Kirsten Whitehouse, Exhibition Manager for Infrarail 2018, said: "Infrarail has been a highlight in the industry calendar for many years, and the twelfth edition promises to be our biggest and best yet. Exhibiting companies will cover the entire industry supply chain, and the venue will bring together some of the leading thinkers, legislators, organisations and engineers from across the UK rail industry.

"Next year's event will be 2018's definitive networking opportunity for visitors and exhibitors to meet, connect and inspire; sharing knowledge and making contacts. It is an event that is not to be missed and I urge businesses interested in exhibiting to make a reservation as soon as possible, as spaces are rapidly selling out."
